

P U + N E Y & W ⊕ ⊕ D L + D

The Stonework Contractor | Contemporary | Traditional

This is a full-time on-site role based in Essex for an Experienced Masonry Designer, lesser experience will also be considered with room for progression.

The role involves designing and developing stone masonry solutions for a variety of construction projects. Responsibilities include creating technical drawings, cutting lists etc and collaborating with architects and project teams and ensuring designs align with client specifications and project requirements. The Masonry Designer will also review, and revise designs as needed while ensuring high-quality standards are maintained throughout the design process.

The role also includes visits to construction sites for site meetings and site surveys.

Advantageous Skills/Qualifications

- Proficiency in architectural design software such as AutoCAD, Revit, or other relevant tools
- Experience in masonry design, including both new build and restoration projects
- Strong understanding of structural and construction principles, with attention to detail
- Effective communication and collaboration skills for coordinating with clients, architects, and project teams
- Ability to manage time effectively and meet project deadlines
- Familiarity with UK construction regulations and standards related to masonry is an advantage