

Benefits of Membership

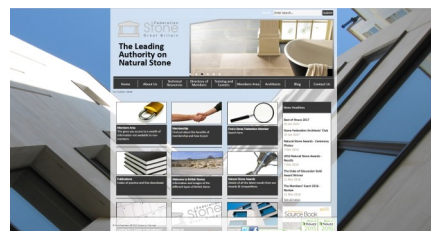

Federation
Stone
Great Britain

Inclusion in the Natural Stone Source Book

As a member, you are automatically included in the Federation's flagship publication, The Natural Stone Source Book: A Specifiers' Guide. This is sent to 5,000 architects, designers, specifiers, local authorities and clients as well as being distributed at a number of leading trade shows and industry events.

Website & Digital Media

One of the major benefits of membership is the digital media exposure we provide for your company. All members have a full company profile on our website, which sees in excess of 75,000 visitors each year. We also promote member activity on Twitter, through which we reach an average of 3 million users annually.

StoneSafe

Health & Safety Guidance

Health & Safety is always high on our agenda. Members have access to a range of free Health & Safety resources including publications, training days, helplines and a dedicated website with a wealth of resources and updates on the latest legislation. We also have a strong working relationship with the HSE.

StoneTrain

●●● Training for the industry

StoneTrain

StoneTrain is the training arm of Stone Federation and was created to provide training and related support for Federation members. StoneTrain is run for the industry, and by the industry, and is on hand to deal with any training related queries.

Ethical Stone Register

Ethical Sourcing

In 2016, Stone Federation began development of the Ethical Stone Register; a unique resource created specifically for the natural stone industry, in response to the Modern Slavery Act 2015 and the issues of sourcing materials responsibly.

The project allows Federation members, whatever their size, to offer a responsible and manageable ethical sourcing solution to their clients.
